IoBM Convocation 2010

Projection of a promise

It was a humble projection of a promise that IoBM undertakes to deliver in quality, meaningful and career focused education, equally humbly projected in the form of a media spectacle at IoBM Convocation 2010. History of several years repeats itself in inspiring well-maintained and heart-warming media coverage of IoBM mega events and activities. The following are highlights of media coverage of IoBM Convocation 10:

Electronic media spectacle
There was a massive turn-out of electronic media at the Convocation. All the leading TV channels were represented indeed. Stealing the show were DAWN NEWS, PTV, GEO, ARY NEWS, EXPRESS NEWS, HUM TV, AAJ NEWS, DUNIYA NEWS, CNBC, BUSINESS PLUS, INDUS TV, SAMAA TV, WAQQT NEWS, CHANNEL FIVE, METRO ONE, TV ONE/NEWS ONE, RADIO PAKISTAN and so on. Several key channels were telecasting this event live from IoBM.

Print media highlights

Rare sight in media coverage
It was a rare sight with such channels as AAJ, GEO, Express News and CNBC providing live coverage of any educational institution’s Convocation. It was also a rare sight with DAWN newspaper’s two top sections: Business and Metropolitan being represented by two senior journalists. The former covering with photo and IoBM oriented caption; the latter with a report including Chief Guest complimenting IoBM plus a list of gold medalists. Same is true of “The News” highlighting this event in two sections: The City and Business.

Elite unwilling to pay taxes: Shaikh

By Salman Siddiqui

KARACHI: Federal Finance Minister Dr Abdul Hafeez Shaikh said on Saturday that the elite class of the country was unwilling to pay taxes.

"The elite class doesn't want to pay taxes," he said while addressing the 13th convocation of the Institute of Business Management (IoBM).

The government has recently revised the tax collection target for the fiscal year 2011 upward by Rs60 billion to Rs1,659 billion from the earlier set target of Rs1,699 billion ahead of the likely imposition of Reformed GST and flood surcharge tax.

"One-third population of the country is living below the poverty line," he said. He added that the recent floods had caused the national economy around $10 billion loss and GDP growth was likely to drop to 1.5-2 percent.

Following the devastating floods, economic managers of the country revised the GDP growth target downward to 2.5 percent from 4.5 percent set earlier.

The government was taking tough decisions to come out of the crises and would successfully beat all the odds, he said. "The country's exports in October this year were higher by 30 percent than exports in October last year."

Dr Javaid R Leghari, chairman of Higher Education Commission (HEC), said HEC aimed to increase the number of students getting quality higher education to 10 percent of the population by 2015 from five percent at present.

He said Turkey was providing quality higher education to 37 percent population, Malaysia 30 percent and Indonesia 27 percent.

He said that some 9,000 students had been granted HEC scholarships, out of which 5,000 were studying abroad.

He said that 20 percent faculty members at the country's universities had Ph.D. The HEC aimed to double this percentage to 40 by 2015. "A culture of research publication is developing in the country."

IoBM President Shahjehan S Karim and vice chancellor Aftab Ahmed Khan also spoke on the occasion.

The Institute awarded degrees in business management and allied disciplines to some 700 students at the convocation.

Gold medals were awarded to Maria Irshad, Umar Aslam, Maheen Jafri, Abdul Ahad, Nazir Nazir, Farhan Afzal, Ayesha Hoda, Mehar Younas and Sayeda Amber.

AAMIR MAJEED

Karachi (December 05, 2010): Unjustified distribution of wealth and non-payment of taxes by elite class are creating economic challenges for the country. This was stated by Finance Minister Dr. Abdul Hafeez Sheikh while addressing graduates at the annual convocation of the institute of business management here on Saturday.

He said that despite floods during the current year, exports of the country have gone up by 30 percent during October this year as compared to the same month of last year. He said that 20 million people were affected by floods and the government of Pakistan had faced a loss of Rs. 10 billion, and the gross domestic product (gdp) of the country declined by over 1.25 percent.

Appreciating the great enthusiasm of the nation, he said the country once again came into being, after August 14, 1947. “Due to revival of democracy, freedom of media, equal distribution of resources between the provinces and some important decision after generating consensus among all stakeholders, Pakistan is surfacing as a new progressive nation,” he said, adding that “there needs of investment in higher education to maintain progress.”

Dr. Javed R Laghari, chairman of higher education commission (HEC), said that IloBM had clinched second spot in top business institutes in a short period of time. Expressing sorrow, he said the rate of higher education in the country is just 5 percent, which is 30 percent in developing countries around.

He said the government had decided to increase the rate of higher education by 15 percent by the end of 2015 and 20 percent before end of 2020, which seems to be impossible. During 2002, there were only 3000 ph. D’s and during last seven years, some 3200 more people completed their studies, he said.

Shahjahan S. Karim, president of IloBM, said that within a decade and a half of its existence IloBM has attained national and international recognition. According to international ranking of 1000 business schools, Eduniversal, Paris, ranked IloBM as one of the top two business school in Pakistan. He said.

He said that IloBM has also received ‘best Asia business school award’ from CMO Asia and world brand congress at Singapore. IloBM is known for its state-of-the-art academic and professional facilities amid faculty guidance, teaching and grooming, while its graduates are placed in top national and multinational organizations, he said. About 700 students were awarded degrees in business management and allied disciplines in the convocation. Of them, nine students topped to earn gold medals.

Elite loath to pay taxes, says Hafeez

Advancing students not to be afraid of odds, he said change must start from within oneself.

Earlier in his keynote address, Higher Education Commission Chairman Dr Javaid R. Laghari spelt out the objectives of the HEC, which he said was focused on re-search integrated with industries.

He said its major thrust was to develop world-class faculty because he felt that without a reputable faculty there was no point in building an institution.

He said over 9,000 scholarships were being given by the HEC through open competition, and added that 5,000 were foreign scholarships while the rest were within the country. He said the goal was to have a PhD faculty in the country soon (40 per cent by 2015).

He also referred to the zero plagiarism policy and said universities had been provided with software to detect such theses.

About 700 degrees were given in business management and allied disciplines at the convocation. There were nine gold medalists: S. Finance minister slams elite for not paying taxes, opposing reforms

OUR CORRESPONDENT
KARACHI

Those who are too smart to engage in politics are punished by being governed by those who are dumber, Finance Minister Dr Abdul Hafeez Shaikh quoted Plato in a bid to encourage fresh graduates to opt for public service.

He was addressing the convocation ceremony of the Institute of Business Management (IoBM) on Saturday, where some 700 students received degrees in business management and other disciplines.

"One-third of the country's population is below the poverty line and the elite are still reluctant to pay taxes and are resisting reforms," said Shaikh. However, keeping the atmosphere congenial, he focused on unity during his speech.

He gave the example of how Pakistanis across the globe had united to help their country after the devastating floods wreaked havoc in all provinces and left an area more than the size of the United Kingdom (UK) inundated.

He admitted, though, that public-private partnership is best displayed in the education sector.

"There are some services, like defence, which only the government can provide, while there are some only the private sector can. But both can work together to bring atop the education sector."

While asserting that democracy was headed in the right direction, Shaikh pointed out that provincial governments had been given more power with a 50 per cent increase in funds for vital social services like education, health and drinking water.

Expressing hope of the economy coming back on track, the finance minister highlighted that exports touched an all-time high in October, with an increase of 26.1 per cent to $1.99 billion.
